LOWNESVILLE.

happenings of a Week In and About the Seven-Hilled City—Personals.

Lowndesville, Nov. 23, 1912.

Mrs. B. F. Price of near Abbeville came up today was a week ago and has since been with relatives and friends in this place.

Mr. Jas. M. Baker, of Washington, D. C., came to this place last Saturday, and has been here since then looking after his interests in this place and section.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thompson, a son, last Sunday night.

Mr. Eugene Clinkscales, of the Fork, rented some rooms over the brick stores, corner of Main and Bell streets, and has moved his sister, Mrs. J. F. Clinkscales, who has been living with him for some time, in charge of them, and his twin sons will live with her and go to school here.

Mr. R. R. Jones, of Fountain Inn, came over last Saturday and stayed for several days with friends in this place.

Mrs. H. C. Fennel went to Iva last Saturday and was with the family of her son-in-law, Mr. Sam McAdams, till Monday.

The fire Monday night, though confined to a small area, the store occupied by Mr. W. M. Speer was burned with its entire contents, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars upon Messrs. Cooley and Speer, over the insurance. The power company at Gregg's Shoals was also a pretty heavy loser by the burning of a post and wire, which was near the building. Its material loss was quite small, but pretty large in damages, in falling, because of its inability to do so, to transmit the electric current to Abbeville, which furnishes the city with light and power. So the burning of a small post and wires, insignificant within themselves, put the power plant out of commission from 10 p. m. Monday until 1 p. m. Tuesday, crippling those industries at Abbeville dependent upon it for motive power for about fifteen hours; so that the influence of the blaze extended for eight miles west and twenty miles east.

The Crescent Concert Company management, Alkahest Lyceum Co., Atlanta, Ga., gave an entertainment Monday 8 p. m. in the High school building. A full house, even to all available standing room was present, and attentively took in the performance. All were delighted, and gave to the quartette of ladies engaged in it, due praise.

Mr. J. E. Wigginton, representing the Anderson Daily Mail, was here Wednesday in the interest of that publication.

Magistrate J. G. Huckabee went to Anderson Wednesday on business.

Dr. J. D. Wilson went to Anderson Wednesday, and came back that evening in his auto, which he carried to that place a few days before for repairs.

The one above named went to Greenwood Thursday and attended the 3rd District Medical Association, and was very much pleased. About fifty M. D.'s were present.

Mrs. T. D. Cooley, Mrs. Chas. T. Baker, Mrs. J. B. Moseley and Mrs. Gordon Speer, with Mr. Bryan Lomas, driver and manager of the auto, went to Anderson and back yesterday evening.

Mr. John Arnold, of Athens, Ga., was in this place a short while yesterday evening. Hon. Wyatt Alken, Congressman, and Superintendent of Education-elect W. R. Bradley gave us quite a short visit yesterday evening long enough for them to shake hands with a number of their friends in this place.

To the older ones of this section the sad news of the death of Mrs. S. B. Jones came Thursday morning through the columns of the Southern Christian Advocate. She passed away in Spartanburg where her home had been for a number of years. The writer for reasons claims the privilege of paying a slight tribute to her memory. She was a native of this section, having been born and reared within a few miles of this place. Throughout a pretty large territory, as a young lady, she was well known and beloved, by old and young. Having a warm heart, a genial and loving disposition, with a smile and kind word for all that she met, all were drawn to her and became her best friends, yet it was those who knew her best that loved her most. She spent much of her time at our home, the home of my sainted father, Rev. G. W. Huckabee. There she always found a cordial welcome. As a bare-footed boy, the writer was always glad at the coming of cousin Lottie. Then was formed for her an attachment that neither time nor distance has lessened.

She was a life long consistent member of the Methodist church. In all of the walks of life, sister, daughter, wife, mother, friend, she ever showed a peculiar fitness for, which was indicative of a high Christian character, all of which enabled her to leave behind an enviable record, an example worthy to be followed. No one could question the cordiality, the kindness which shown forth in all of her intercourse with old and young, neither could her devotion to the Master's cause call forth any doubt as to its genuineness, its sincerity. All of which gives to her beloved ones left behind, and the few remaining who knew her years ago, the assurance that she is now in the Christian's home in heaven, enjoying the fruits of a well spent and happy life.

Bellevue.

Mrs. C. J. Lyon and little daughter, Mildred, returned to Abbeville Tuesday after several days spent with relatives.

Dr. James Wideman, of Due West, was in Bellevue Wednesday to see Mrs. Wardlaw.

Messrs. Morrah and Wardlaw and Mr. Orville Calhoun were in Antreville Tuesday on business.

Dr. and Mrs. George Hanvey returned to Des Moines Wednesday, after a pleasant visit to his mother.

Mrs. W. P. Wideman, of Long Cane, was in Bellevue for a short while Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Parker, and Miss Graham, teacher of the Flatwoods school, worshipped with the A. R. P.'s on Sabbath. There are several cases of lagrippe in Bellevue. There is one sick person in nearly every family.

Mrs. W. H. Kennedy came home Saturday after a pleasant visit to relatives in Iva.

Misses Elizabeth Wardlaw and Janie Lee Morrah spent Saturday with Miss Marie Talbert, of Sandover.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cade entertained a few of their relatives at an opossum dinner on Saturday.

EAST END.

What "M" Sees and Hears on His Rounds About the City and Along Route No. 3.

Abbeville, S. C., Nov. 25, 1912.

Tomorrow (Thursday) will be celebrated over these United States as a day of thanksgiving by order of the Chief Magistrate, as well as by proclamation of the Governors of each and every State. How wise and how good it is for the people North, South, East and West to feel it their duty to offer up praise and thanks from grateful hearts to Him who has kept us safely through another year, and who has showered blessings upon us, both temporal and spiritual; yes, even in the darkest hour He has given us grace to see the silver lining behind the darkest cloud.

Let every one left up their hearts in grateful praise to Him who has crowned the days and years of our lives with goodness and mercy.

Let us not forget the poor, but try in some way to make them happy. As God has given us, let us give unto the needy. Let each one strive to make some one happy and in so doing we will be happier ourselves.

Uncle Sam's new post office building is lifting its head high up and is already putting on a handsome appearance. When finished it will reflect great credit upon the workmen, and especially upon him who has the building in charge and who is responsible as the contractor. It will be an imposing and beautiful building with all necessary and essential improvements.

Mrs. R. C. Philson left yesterday to attend a wedding in Clinton, S. C. May she have a pleasant time.

There is a good deal of sickness all about. Lagrippe seems to have a "grip" on the people.

If you wish to do away with a lot of trouble, select and buy your Christmas presents now, thereby avoiding the rush later on. Take our advice and don't wait till Christmas eve, or even the week before.

Abbeville is serenely quiet, Cupid has unslacked his bow-string so that everything in his line has once again come to a standstill. "Nothing doing."

DOINGS ON ROUTE 3.

Miss Emma Penney is home again after a delightful stay of several weeks in Spartanburg, the guest of her brother, Prof. T. B. Penney of Wofford College.

Mrs. Andrew Bass returned home last week after spending a week most pleasantly with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Edmunds, of Anderson, S. C.

Mrs. A. K. Woodhurst spent last Saturday with relatives in the Sharon section.

Miss Addie Woodhurst, accompanied by her father, Mr. A. K. Woodhurst, were guests in the city last Saturday.

Mrs. Mary W. Parker is visiting relatives in Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Wilson spent last Monday with their home people at Lebanon.

Rev. J. B. Hillhouse has a beautiful drove of I. R. ducks, of which he is justly proud.

Hunters are now making the birds fly, and rabbits run!

Several colored persons killed 52 rabbits one day last week, and had them on sale in the city three for 25 cents, cleaned and ready for cooking.

Turkeys are putting on their last strut before Thanksgiving.

Mr. S. C. Link is one of the happy farmers on route three and day by day brings something in to the city for our people to eat. Don't know what we would do without him.

Some of the colored schools have opened on route 3.

Cotton picking is about over and nothing to do but hunt and ride around. Happy farmer!

Schools on route 3 will close for Thanksgiving day, also rural carriers will be off, so don't look for us tomorrow.

DEATH OF THOMAS W. KNOX.

Mr. T. W. Knox, of Mount Carmel, died last Sunday night, Nov. 24th, 1912, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thurmond, near Danburg, Georgia. The deceased has been in declining health for a long time, so that the end was not unexpected at any time, although a great shock to his family and friends when the brittle thread was snapped asunder.

The deceased was an official and influential member of the Methodist church at Mt. Carmel, where he did a good work for which he will verily have his reward.

He was well and most favorably known in the business circles of that city for many years. His work on earth is finished, his labors are over, and he has been called up higher and has just begun to live in that world that has no end—ever through eternity where there will be no more parting. What a happy thought and what consolation for loved ones left behind, who shall sooner or later join him in the great beyond.

His remains were brought to Lebanon, where they were funeralized, and interred on Tuesday, 26th, in the presence of hosts of friends and relatives. A wife and several children, together with one brother and sister, Mr. B. W. Knox and Mrs. James Gilliam, of Sharon, survive him.

The deceased has many relatives and friends on route 3 and in Abbeville, who will learn of his death with deepest sorrow.

The bereaved ones have the sincere sympathy of hosts of friends.

FLAGGED TRAIN WITH SHIRT.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C. once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price 50c at P. B. Speed's and McMurray Drug Co.
